CARLSON BROWN

FIRM RESUME

FIRM SUMMARY

Bruce Carlson managed the ADA practice at the predecessor firm to Lynch Carpenter from 2013 through June 2021, at which time he and Ian Brown founded the Carlson Brown firm. Carlson and Brown have worked together prosecuting ADA cases since 2013, and they have been actively involved in all of the ADA cases prosecuted by Lynch Carpenter and its predecessor firm since that time.

ATTORNEYS

R. Bruce Carlson

Bruce Carlson is from Wilkesburg, Pennsylvania, where he attended public schools. He graduated from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law in 1989, where he was the Executive Editor of the Journal of Law and Commerce. He also obtained his undergraduate degree from the University of Pittsburgh, graduating summa cum laude in political philosophy. After law school, he was employed for approximately four years at Eckert Seamans Cherin & Mellott, in Pittsburgh. Subsequently, he was a member at the Pittsburgh plaintiffs-FELA and mass tort firm previously known as Peirce, Raimond, Osterhout, Wade, Carlson & Coulter. During his five year tenure at the Peirce firm, Bruce developed and managed one of the largest, if not the largest, pediatric lead poisoning practices in the country. After his practice evolved and began to focus more on consumer class action litigation, he affiliated the practice with a prominent Pittsburgh-based plaintiffs' class action firm. During the almost four years that he was affiliated with that firm, Bruce originated and was lead counsel in more consumer class cases than any lawyer in Western Pennsylvania. These cases were filed not only in Western Pennsylvania, but in state and federal courts throughout the country.

In June 2004, Bruce ended his relationship with his former firm and with Gary Lynch co-founded the Carlson Lynch firm. While at Carlson Lynch Bruce managed the firm's practice under Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

In June 2021 Carlson Lynch became Lynch Carpenter and Bruce Carlson and his former Carlson Lynch colleague Ian Brown formed Carlson Brown.

Lynch Carpenter and Carlson Brown continue to work together as co-counsel on a substantial number of cases under Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Bruce is admitted to practice in the state courts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the United States District Courts for the Western, Middle and Eastern Districts of Pennsylvania, the Northern and Southern Districts of West Virginia, the Northern District of Ohio, the Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western Districts of Texas, the District of Maryland, the Western District of Tennessee and the United States Courts of Appeal for the Third, Fifth, Ninth and Eleventh Circuits. He is a member of the Million Dollar Advocates Forum. He is a member of the American Association of Justice, and the Pennsylvania, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia Trial Lawyers Associations.

Ian M. Brown

Ian Brown is from Kempton, Pennsylvania. In 2001, he graduated from Temple University, summa cum laude, with a bachelor's degree in psychology. Ian graduated cum laude from the University of Minnesota in 2004, where he was a member of the Intellectual Property Moot Court and a technical editor for the journal Constitutional Commentary. Following law school, Ian practiced real estate, bankruptcy, and business law. In 2010 Ian was hired by Lehigh Valley Center for Independent Living, a non-profit with the mission of advocating for people with disabilities. As LVCIL's Director of Accessibility, Ian worked with businesses, state and local governments, and non-profits to improve compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act throughout Pennsylvania. Ian joined Carlson Lynch's ADA practice in 2013. Ian is admitted in the state courts of Pennsylvania and in the United States District Courts for the Western and Eastern District of Pennsylvania.
